Music & Literature Launches New Digital Archive

Music & Literature has just launched a brand new digital subscription service in collaboration with archiving experts Exact Editions. Every issue of the growing archive is instantly accessible and searchable at the touch of a button across web, iOS and Android devices.

A première magazine for readers seeking broader appreciation of the global arts scene, Music & Literature introduces readers to outstanding individual artists who have not yet garnered the audience they deserve in the English-speaking world. Each issue is exceptional in its breadth and depth of coverage, assembling an international cast of writers and critics. The title fulfils the immediate needs of modern arts enthusiasts while enduring and becoming a permanent resource for future generations of readers, scholars, and artists.

Available for both individual and institutional subscriptions, the new archive is an essential tool for arts aficionados and professionals alike. Boasting advanced search functionalities and bookmarking facilities, the intuitive interface ensures an exceptional user experience.

Music & Literature is available in the Exact Editions individual and institutional shops here:

Individuals: <https://shop.exacteditions.com/music-literature>

Institutions: <https://institutions.exacteditions.com/music-literature>

Founding Publisher and Co-Editor Taylor Davis-Van Atta said: “The issues have transferred wonderfully to the new format on the platform. We’re excited for the archive to grow in size and academic value as we move forward in this digital venture.”

Managing Director of Exact Editions, Daryl Rayner, commented: “Music & Literature will be greatly welcomed by the institutional market as an excellent resource for arts courses worldwide; welcome to the platform!”

About Music & Literature, Inc.:

Music & Literature, Inc., is a nonprofit organisation devoted to publishing and promoting the work of underrepresented artists from around the world. Each print issue of Music & Literature assembles an international cast of writers and critics in celebration of three featured artists whose work has yet to reach its deserved audience. In addition to its flagship publication, Music & Literature offers robust coverage of the arts through its website and organises premier live programming in cities around the globe, routinely collaborating with other cultural organisations and institutions to bring the work of its featured artists directly to audiences.
